BEATS OUR JACK.

A Despicable Villian Assaults a Lady at Cleveland--Women Arming to Defend Themselves.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 22.—As Miss Mary Billson, daughter of a prominent citizen of Cleveland, was passing an alley, almost in the heart of the city at about dusk last evening, a well dressed man sprang out and attempted to drag her into the dark passage way.

She screamed for help, after having torn the fellow's hands from her throat, whereupon he dealt her a terrible blow and left her lying, face downward, in a puddle of water. People who were attracted by the girl's cries, saw the fellow running for dear life, but his start was so great that he could not be overtaken. Miss Billson would probably have been drowned had she been allowed to lie in the water a minute longer.

Assaults upon unprotected women, as they have returned home from work, have been so frequent in this city of late that there is a concerted movement on the part of shop and factory girls to prepare themselves for making a vigorous defense of their honor, and it is now quiet fashionable for Cleveland ladies to carry daggers and other life-destroying implements. The police seem to be unable to afford any protection, whatever.

AT THE GAMING TABLE.

A Deadly Encounter Between Gamblers--The Criminal Record.

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 22.—Word has just been received of a terrible tragedy at Branwell's Saturday night. Several men were gambling and became involved in a quarrel. A man named Burdick shot and fatally wounded five of his companions and was himself shot dead. A mob took Burdick's body, stood it up against a tree and riddled it with bullets.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 22.—Yesterday afternoon Edward Duchart, a boy of nine years, was murdered by an insane man named Frank Morris, aged twenty-six years. The boy was passing Morris' house on his bicycle, when Morris rushed out of the gate with an axe and struck the boy on the back of the head with the edge of the weapon, killing him instantly. Morris is now under restraint.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Dec. 22.—The body of Francis T. McKay was found in the woods here yesterday. It is thought he was murdered. McKay and Alexander Henry went riding from Orleans Friday night and Henry returned at 1 o'clock to that place. The horse and buggy were found at Harwichs yesterday. Henry said that the horse had run away and that he had been thrown out. He knew nothing of McKay's whereabouts. Henry's appearance caused distrust in his story, and McKay's friends began a search. McKay and Henry were good friends and if it should prove to be a murder the motive is a mystery.

THE BLONDE WIDOW.

She Lives Sumptuously and Gets Away With Her Lover's Cash.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 22.—A young San Francisco, named Frank Goodwin, while in New York last June, became acquainted with Mrs. G. Farnan, an engaging blonde widow, whom he finally induced to come west with him. He represented her as his wife, fitted up a flat, on which he spent $250, and maintained her sumptuously. Saturday he found on his return from a brief business trip she had sold the furniture and departed for New York. She carried considerable jewelry and $500 in cash.

CHINESE HIGHBINDERS.

Renew Hostilities at San Francisco --Wong Lee Assassinated.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—The chinese highbinders, after a brief lull, renewed hostilities Saturday night with the result that Wong Lee, who runs a sewing machine, now lies in a hospital with a bullet wound clear through his body. His assassin was Chey Fook, with whom he quarreled a few days ago. As both belong to Highbinders societies many attempts will probably be heard again soon.

Brady, there has been wrought a scene sublime in its loveliness. On one side of the entrance is a lofty world's fair tower of handkerchiefs, and in the north show window is arranged an interior scene, the center of attraction being Santa Claus, who has just arrived by the chimney route.

ALF. K. IREY DEAD.

A Well Known Citizen Breathes His Last To-day at Noon--Born and Raised in Fort Wayne.

Alfred K. Irey died at noon to-day at his home, No. 86 Wells street, after a brief illness.

This announcement comes unexpectedly for it has only been a few weeks since Mr. Irey was active in business affairs upon the streets. He contracted a severe cold which terminated in his confinement and subsequent attack of kidney trouble which ended his life.

Mr. Irey had an extended acquaintance. He was born and reared in this city, his birthplace being in an unpretentious cottage on Griffith street. He was educated in the free public schools, acquiring knowledge that fitted him well for responsible positions he held in his young manhood, and later to enter into the commercial arena for himself. His fish business at 108 Calhoun street and later his grocery business will be recalled by nearly everybody. Mr. Irey was appointed manager of the Journal under the regime of the late Sam Miller, a position he filled with credit alike to himself and the paper until his retirement.

Again we find him managing a commission exchange for Chicago parties and finally up to the time of his last prostration, he was interested in securing purchasers for newly-platted lots in Findlay, O.

Mr. Irey was an aggressive democrat. In whatever he undertook he put his shoulder to the wheel with that indomitable pluck and courage that was a marked characteristic of the man.

"Alf" Irey was universally liked for his frank and genial spirit, and his death will be learned with sorrow. He was about forty years old and leaves an estimable wife and two children in the immediate family.

The funeral will be announced hereafter.

A BIG STRIKE!

Inaugurated by the Railroad Employes of Scotland--The Election in Ireland To-Day.

GLASGOW, Dec. 22.—The long expected strike of the railroad employes of Scotland, which was finally determined upon at yesterday's meeting, has been vigorously inaugurated. Already the traffic of this district is almost completely paralyzed. The very few trains which the companies were able to get out this morning were manned by depleted crews made up in part of new men, and ran at irregular intervals.

Pickets were promptly placed by the union, and they are now endeavoring to induce the few engine drivers who remain faithful to their employers to desert their service. Everywhere the strikers display remarkable activity, the engine houses, workshops and other company buildings being surrounded by a swarm of pickets. All mineral trains have abandoned the attempts to make their customary trip and the passenger traffic has almost ceased.

KILKENNY, Dec. 22.—To day occurs the election to fill the vacancy in the house of commons created by the death of E. P. Muhallon Marum, late member for North Kilkenny.

Mr. Timothy Harrington has issued a manifesto to the electors declaring that the Irish-Americans will never submit to the deposition of Mr. Parnell from the leadership of the Irish nationalist party. The manifesto which has been eagerly seized upon by the friends of Mr. Parnell and his candidate, Mr. Vincent Scully, now forms the especial feature of the election.

DR. KOCH'S LYMPH.

Dr. Carl Proegler Honored by Receiving Some of the Wonderful Cure.

Some time ago Dr. Proegler made a request of Dr. Koch, the famed German discoverer of the wonderful lymph for the cure of consumption, for a small quantity of the lymph. This morning the doctor received a small package, which had been broken in transit on its long journey from Germany, and found it to have contained the lymph. Enough of the magic fluid was saved to make a showing in a half ounce jar, but on account of its exposure to the air it is spoiled. Dr. Rosenthal expects some of the lymph from his son, Dr. Maurice Rosenthal, who has been witnessing some of the experiments made at Berlin.

The Deaths.

The following is the list of death reported by the city undertakers for the week ending Saturday, December 20: Anna C. Magnus, 28 years, anaemia; Samuel H. Shosff, 74 years, exhaustion; Rosetta B. Abbott, 64 years, heart failure; Mary Barr, 84 years, consumption; Annie J. Weininger, 4 years, brain fever; E. Chas. McCormick, 80 years, dropsy; Samuel D. Miller, 55 years, dropsy, Mary Carr, 16 years, typhoid pneumonia, Lydia Finke, 2 weeks, cramps; Julia A. Larson, 1 day, spasms; Bethene Porter, 71 years, old age, Charles Bloch, 7 years, membraneous croup; Martin Hoelle, 1 day, spasms; Joseph Grosh, 19 years, typhoid pneumonia; Della McMoken, 36 years, inflammation of the bowels; John Vance, 45 years, spasms.

The Steel Age.

The Damascus sword, which could be tied in a knot, and would cut a hair, made a great reputation for the makers; but the Torrey razor, which will slice a hair, is more useful, and its use adds a good deal more to a man's appearance.

They knew how to make good steel in those days, but they did not have nickel plated scissors with gold handles, manicure or button hole, or IXL pocket knives.

Their smiths got up a good armor, too, then; but it was cumbersome, and their tools were heavy. They could have done better with modern tools, and such a line of mechanic's and machinist's tools as they could see if there were now cannot be matched anywhere in the city.

Can you imagine one of those old knights who carried a Damascus blade, sitting down to dinner with a carving set in Rubber, Bone or Ivory handles, in size or kind for fowls or roast; hand some plated knives and forks, table, tea spoons and after-dinner coffees, using a call bell to ring for a maid to clear the table and bring in the dessert? Probably they could not imagine such a thing themselves, for none of them ever saw the modern hardware store, with all the latest appliances and conveniences, where they could buy all these things, and many others suitable for the season. It is kept by Morgan & Beach, at 19 and 21 East Columbia street.

The obsequies were conducted under the auspices of Harmony lodge, I. O. O. F., of which the deceased was a member. The lodge furnished an emblematic floral tribute in the form of three links and Summit encampment furnished a similar offering in the form of a tent. The city band headed the cortege. The interment was at Lindenwood.

DEATHS.

The two-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lentz, of 70 Grant avenue, died of spasms last night. The funeral will be announced hereafter.

A BOLD, BAD ACT.

A Valuable Sign Torn From Its Fastenings and Consigned to the River.

Dr. George Johnson, the dentist, who recently established his office over Mordhurst's drug store, had a sign that was his especial pride. It was a large glass case affair which contained upwards of 10,000 teeth most of them having been extracted by the doctor during his professional life. He valued this sign at several hundred dollars. Saturday night some miscreants, who craved for pastime, unbolted the sign, lugged it to the St. Marys river and consigned it to the watery depths, where it would have probably remained for all futurity had not some boys accidentally discovered it Sunday. They carried the property to Dr. Johnson The sign, with its 10,000 teeth, is a complete wreck, and the doctor is so worked up over the matter that he will pay a detective to work up the case, with a hope of prosecuting the guilty parties.

WAS DEATH ACCIDENTAL?

The Claim on Rev. S. D. Miller's Life Will Not be Settled by the Insurance Company.

The late Rev. S. D. Millet, carried an accident policy in the United States Mutual Accident association, by the terms of which his family would get $3,000 in case his death should be caused by an accident. It will be recalled that Rev. Miller fell down stairs two weeks previous to his death, and it was supposed he died from the effects of injuries received at that time. To satisfy the insurance company on this point, the brain of the deceased was dissected at the office of Dr. G. W. McCaskey yesterday, in the presence of Drs. A. J. and A. C. Boswell, representatives of the company. It was found that no blood-clot existed, but that there was simply a congested condition of the proimaker, indicating that death was not caused by any injury to the head. On these grounds the company will refuse to pay the claim and a contest may result.

Strange to say the post mortem did not include an examination of the heart, kidneys, the thoracic cavity or other organs, where internal injury may have been sustained.

UNION VETERAN LEGION AND AUXILIARY —Regular meeting.

WORLD'S MUSEUM—Prairie Dog show, "Mo and Him" and other features.

The days have commenced to grow longer.

The time for killing quail expired last Saturday.

There are 4,000 daily papers in the world. Fort Wayne has seven of this number.

Rev. A. K. Zartman commenced a series of sermons last evening at the Grace church, on "Future Punishment." His opening discourse was an able one, and the series will be interesting."

The December number of The Symposium, Rev. J. M. Driver's publication, is issued. In his vigorous way, the editor steps into the discussion of a political question or two, and hits the republican party a slap.

The physicians attending on the Pope have issued a statement claiming that Leo XIII, is in marvelous health in spite of his great age and frail appearance and they express the opinion that he may occupy the chair of St. Peter for many years yet.

Christmas is now only two days away. Old Santa Claus will be here with his pack of gifts and the children should see that the biggest chimney in the house is in good order, so that the merry old gentleman may descend without getting covered with soot.

The supreme court adjourned Saturday, to meet no more until Tuesday, January 6. R. W. McBride has not yet qualified for the position on the bench, to which the governor appointed him, but will probably do so in time to begin work at the next setting of the court.

The trial of Miobel Eyraud and Gabrielle Bompard for the murder of Notary Gouffe, was concluded at Paris Saturday evening. Eyraud was convicted and condemned to death. Gabrielle Bompard was also convicted, but was not condemned to the guillotine. She was sentenced to twenty years imprisonment at hard labor.

Rev. S. D. Hillman, of Taylor university, occupied the pulpit of Rev. Dr. Moffat at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning and preached a sermon of great force and interest, from the text, "Until the Day Breaks and and the Shadows Flee." In it he depicted in an eloquent way the brightness and hope that come with the leading of Christian lives.

During the past thirty years only one president of the United States has been elected without the electoral vote of New York. That was Gen. Grant in 1868. Horatio Seymour carried the Empire state by a majority of 10,000 over his distinguished competitor, but the latter carried pretty much everything else and New York wasn't needed. Indiana goes New York one better in this respect. Every presidential candidate receiving the electoral vote of this state since 1800 was elected, though in one of these contests (1870) election failed to elect. Returning boards did the business that year.

The two patents on the Bell telephone —practically the only telephone now in use—will expire in a few years, the patent on the process being out in 1893, and the patent for the device being out in 1894. This will permit any individual or corporation to manufacture, use and sell telephones without the payment of royalties or fear of molestation. The monopoly in telephony so long enjoyed by the Bell company, under various corporation names in various localities, but nevertheless, controlled entirely by one great corporation, will be ended, and the famous Bell stock, which is now never on sale, will probably suffer rapid decline.

According to the latest story from the northwest, told by a furloughed soldier who claims to have been upon the spot, Chief Sitting Bull was not arrested by the Indian police, or shot while escaping, nor killed in battle between the troops and his fanatical braves. If the story is true he was shot down in his own cabin by the police who surprised him there. Corporal Gunn, who is authority for the story, says that Bull Head, a lieutenant of police, went to the old chief's house with a warrant for his arrest and knocked. Sitting Bull and his two sons were alone in the cabin. When the chief opened the door and saw Bull Head he gave a cry of alarm, Bull Head, without hesitation, shot him down, and as he reeled Sitting Bull drew a revolver and gave Bull Head a death wound. If this story be true, the killing of Sitting Bull was but little less than a cowardly murder.

CAPTURED AT LAST.

"Jack, the Hugger" and "Nancy the Squeezer" are Married.

"Will you act as a witness in a marriage ceremony?" was the question put to a Sentinel last evening as he was walking along East Berry street towards the Government building.

The request was a "stunner." It nearly took the Sentinel man off his feet, but he looked up and, by the bright light of the moon, peered closely into the face of the man who made this startling request of one who was an entire stranger to him.

What was there about the face into which he was looking that made it seem familiar to The Sentinel? Had he ever seen it before? Did he know the man? No, and yet there was something about this strange personage that kept pricking at The Sentinel's memory which before replying he endeavored to recall. Like a flash it came. The man standing before him was "Jack, the Hugger." His appearance answered the best description of the much wanted individual that he had heard. The maniac look was in his eyes and the sensual appearance in every lineament of his countenance. It could be none other than "Jack, the Hugger" and with a determination to solve the mystery, The Sentinel, in reply to the man's question, said: "Certainly. When and Where?"

"Now! Follow me!" was the quick and satisfied reply, and going a few feet west, we turned up a stairway and entered the office of Justice Ryan.

The dignitary who is authorized by law to make two people one "for better or for worse" was seated at the desk and in a chair near him sat a woman who the moment The Sentinel got his eyes on her he knew was none other than "Nancy, the Squeezer," who had been making night a terror for a number of young dudes around the railroads and other places in the city.

"Now, hurry up, 'squire" said the supposed Jack, "everything is ready," and, taking the supposed Nancy's hand, the two stood up before the 'squire and were quickly made man and wife. "Now, its done," and, throwing three silver dollars down on the table, he took up his hat and with the woman quickly passed out the door.

"Do you know who those folks are, squire!" asked The Sentinel.

"They gave their names as John Smith and Sarah Jones."

"Assumed names," said The Sentinel. "They are none other than 'Jack, the Hugger' and 'Nancy, the Squeezer.'"

"By jove! I thought something was wrong!" and picking up his hat the 'squire was out of the office in a second to undo if possible the marriage knot he had tied. But he was to too late! The newly wedded pair had disappeared.

"Well! It may be all right," he said on returning. "Now that they are married, it is possible they will quit their capers on the street and confine their hugging and squeezing to each other."

THE LOOP HOLE

That Allows the Sunday Law to Be Violated With Impunity.

"Do I believe the Sunday law is enforced?" said a policeman to a Sentinel reporter. "No, I know it is'nt. I suppose many of the saloons kept open yesterday and sold intoxicating liquors over the bar. I'll tell you how they do it. They have the right, just as restaurants have, to sell lunch and meals on Sunday and many of them avail themselves of it and keep open. We can't stay in the saloons all the time to watch them and see whether they sell intoxicating liquors or not. Our duty is on the street and if we should drop into the saloon we would find while we were there that the law is being observed, but I have'nt the least doubt that a hundred glasses of beer pass over the counters for every lunch that is sold on Sunday. Every saloon whose doors are open on Sunday for customers sell lunch and this is the way they get around the law. If the people want to execute the Sunday and 11 o'clock law rigidly this lunch business will have to be 'doctored up' in some way or other. It is the loop hole that allows the saloon men to violate the law without being punished for it."

CHATS ABOUT OLDEN TIMES.

Mr. John Decker, One of Our Oldest Subscribers, Indulges in Reminiscences.

Mr. John Decker, an old and esteemed resident of Aboite township, was in the city Saturday, and dropped into the office to pay his subscription to The Weekly Sentinel.

"I have taken The Sentinel fifty years," he said, "and this makes the fifty-first time I have paid my yearly subscription at this office."

"You have noticed many changes in the paper and in Fort Wayne?" remarked our business manager interestedly.

"Yes, your paper was established in 1833. It has had changes and many improvements, and I have read it all these years. The city has grown wonderfully. Why, when I first came to Fort Wayne, it was nothing but a small village, located along Columbia street. The land on which The Sentinel building now stands was all covered with timber, as was most of the other parts of the city."

Mr. Decker can give many reminiscences of those early times, and it is a pleasure to talk with him on the subject.

BOY OPERATORS.

Prof. Blakley of the Fort Wayne Telegraph Schools, Replies to Criticisms Concerning Them.

To the Editor of The Sentinel.

In your issue of December 17th, you had an article headed "Boy Operators" in which, in the course of an interview had with a member of the order of railway telegraphers, that person claimed that boy operators were inefficient to do the work given them by the companies. This, in my estimation, is very wrong. In the first place, everybody has to have a show for their bread and butter and if the boy is allowed to be "downed" in this matter he may as well give up all his future prospect and hire out as a laborer. Second: So near as I can figure, and to the best of my knowledge, so far as wrecks are concerned, the boy and the man will average about equal, but the boy may come out with less trouble than the man. There are cases where men as well as boys are inefficient to hold positions, and are not competent to attend to the duties placed upon them. I know of no superintendents who hire boys at a lower price than they would pay operators. All railroads have their wages set at certain stations, and let it be man or boy they draw the same pay. I have never been asked to furnish operators or "boys" at a lower price than the road was paying their operators. It is undoubtedly true that all professional men want as large a salary as possible, which they can not be blamed for, still they should do it in another way from blaming mishaps on those who are not guilty. If the assertions can be proved, I will then decide with them. I can not see the young operator tramped upon. Telegraphy is not a natural gift to any one, and I was a boy operator once, and I think things should be stated true.

A New Counterfeit Five Dollar Gold Piece Discovered.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 22.—The mint authorities here have discovered a counterfeit five dollar gold piece, designed and executed with such remarkable skill that few of the experts can distinguish the spurious coins from the genuine. It differs from the true coin only in size, being slightly larger in diameter. In order to retire the spurious coin from circulation the mint officials will purchase the bogus coins at their face value, and then destroy them. The counterfeits have an intrinsic value of $4.40.

THE STILL ALARM.

A Realistic Play and One Full of Interest at the Temple.

No more popular attraction visits this city than the comedy drama "The Still Alarm." The reason for this is that the play deals with topics and events of every day life. There is nothing in the every-day life of a great metropolis that will create more stir and bustle on the streets than an alarm of fire. All stop and listen to the clang of the bell, count the strokes and then watch with interest the noble animals with distended nostrils dashing along the street whirling the highly burnished engines, glistening in the sun or gleaming at night with the lights of the lanterns along the streets, the driver guiding the snorting steeds in and out of the crowded thoroughfares with skill and dexterity. When a scene of this kind is presented on the stage with such fidelity to nature as shown in the famous fire station act in "The Still Alarm," it is little wonder that audiences go wild with enthusiasm over what is perhaps the most realistic and best managed scene of modern life that the stage has produced in these days of stirring accuracy. At the Temple for a Christmas afternoon matinee, and Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

The Kendallville Sun says: R. G. Thompson, passenger agent of the Wabash line, was in the city to-day, supplying the business houses with calendars advertising his road. The Wabash gets a handsome trade from this city and vicinity.

BIG CAR WORKS.

Capitalists of the Pennsylvania Road to Build the Largest Plant in the Country in Wisconsin.

It is stated that the Pennsylvania railroad people will build the most extensive car works in the United States in the Ohase valley on a portion of the original Nunnemacher farm, the property recently purchased by S. M. Green, says a Milwaukee special. Although Mr. Green refuses to talk about the matter, the facts about the great enterprise are becoming known, and it is said the tenants of the land have been notified to vacate by May 1, 1891, and that the construction of the immense works will be pushed as rapidly as possible thereafter. The company will commence with a capital of $800,000, of which between $500,000 and $000,000 has been subscribed. By many it is thought that the enterprise may result in the Pennsylvania railroad company building into Milwaukee. A gentleman who is in a position to be well informed about the new concern says the institution will be the finest and most extensive car works in the country, and that the stock will be owned principally by men interested in the Pennsylvania railroad company.

The Pittsburg machine shop has received an order for five new class R engines, which insured this department lots of work for a time to come. George Threadgall, of the car wheel department of the Bass works, while out near Aboite on a hunting trip Saturday, became seperated from the rest of the party and was lost in the dense forest. He tells an interesting story of his wanderings and experience before he found his way out.

Nick DeWald, of the Bass boiler shop, was badly burned Saturday morning while on duty. A red hot rivet slipped from a pair of tongs, fell in such a way as to get inside his wearing apparel and it was some time before it could be extracted. The flesh of his left lower limb was badly burned and he suffered intense pain and will be obliged to be absent from duty for several days.

James O'Leary, foreman of the section in the Pittsburg yard, was agreeably surprised by a number of his friends Saturday evening, it being the anniversary of his birth. Mr. O'Leary responded to a speech made by Milo Funk, presenting him with a handsome plush rocking chair as a token of esteem from the men in his employ. A very pleasant evening was spent. Mr. O'Leary is held in high esteem by his employers.

It is absolutely harmless and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. IT NEVER FAILS. Some merchants get the best they can; some get the meanest they can.

Your dealer in lamp-chimneys—what does he get for you?

There are common glass and tough glass, tough against heat. There are foggy and clear. There are rough and fine. There are carefully made and hap-hazard.

You can't be an expert in chimneys; but this you can do. Insist on Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass" which-ever shape you require. They are right in all those ways; and they do not break from heat, not one in a hundred.

Be willing to pay a nickel more for them.

The "Clemencean Case" was presented at the Temple Saturday night to a large audience. The company is an excellent one and the play was finely produced. Miss Sibyl Johnstone as Ixa charmed her hearers with her fine acting and won many plaudits, as did also Miss Jennie Reiffarth, Gustavus Levick and Chas. Kent. The advance criticisms of the play may have kept some theatre goers away from the performance, but those who attended were somewhat surprised at the splendid interpretation of it given by the company. The audience was decidedly enthusiastic and called up the curtain after the second, third and fourth acts. Should the "Clemencean Case" return here, especially with Miss Johnstone in the cast, it would have a crowded house.
